£800,000 haul as car-parts thieves target industrial estate

CAR FIRMS FIGHT BACK

By Samantha McGregor

CRIMINAL gangs have stolen £800,000 of goods from a Banbury industrial estate over the past year.

Thorpe Way Industrial Estate was targeted 37 times last year by thieves. They stole cars and parts, including £13,600 worth of catalytic converters.

Police cannot say if the Banbury estate is the worst hit in the county.

Officers believe criminals are using back roads from Overthorpe to target vehicle hire firms and garages that are based on the estate.

Now businesses are fighting back and have launched a string of initiatives.

Firms will jointly fund an automatic number plate recognition system – to cover the road into the estate – costing £35,000.

Police and firms have set up a business watch scheme and installed new signs warning potential thieves that cars have been marked with a permanent, unique serial number.

Sergeant Katrina Hibbert said: "From March 2011 to February 2012 there have been 37 offences targeting vehicle hire companies and garages for vehicle parts.

"Essentially this has run to £800,000 worth of loss to businesses.

"We have visited every single company and given specific crime reduction advice."

Another problem facing motorists and businesses is the theft of catalytic converters – for the precious metal they contain.

Sgt Hibbert said: "It's something criminal gangs across the UK recognise. They get £100 each for little work. They can have these things off in minutes.

"They are coming into the compound and taking eight off at a time, that's £800.

"It really is a national problem and it's increasing at an horrific rate.

"Previously there was no way you could identify where it came from or if it was stolen.

"But because these people are going in and targeting catalytic converters, we have been working with companies to get them to mark them."

A permanent serial number is put on to the catalytic converter and linked to a national database. A sticker saying the part has been marked is put on the car window to deter thieves.

Sgt Hibbert said: "It allows us to be able to identify where these catalytic converters come from and if they are stolen property. That makes it far less attractive to criminals.

"In terms of inconvenience to people and costs involved in having your catalytic converter stolen, it completely disables the vehicle and costs about £800 to replace."

Just Car Clinic will open its doors on June 2, between 10am and 4pm, and is offering to mark people's catalytic converters free of charge.

Thorpe Way Industrial Estate, where businesses are fighting a crime wave

How to thwart the thieves

POLICE advice for vehicle owners:

- Where possible, park in your garage
- Or park in a location that restricts access underneath your vehicle
- Consider security lighting
- If your catalytic converter is a bolt-on type, you can have the nuts welded on
- Consider the installation of CCTV to protect your vehicle
- Identify/etch your converter with a unique serial number and advertise that the vehicle has been protected with window stickers

Advice for businesses

- Fencing around vehicles may act as a deterrent to opportunist catalytic converter thieves
- If you have a fleet of vehicles, block those with high clearance using vehicles with low clearance. Try to obstruct access underneath all vehicles

Leader: We must up our game

By Sam McGregor

FOLLOWING last Thursday's district council elections, Cherwell's leader Barry Wood said he was more concerned about the number of votes cast for UKIP than the challenge from the two Independents opposing Bicester's eco-town.

UKIP's David Fairweather, won 100 votes at Caversfield; Barbara Fairweather, gained 105 in Bicester North, and Darren Cain, picked up 83 votes in Bicester South.

Meanwhile, both the anti-eco-town Independents, Colin Cockshaw and Tony Walton, standing in Bicester North and Caversfield, came second in their wards, getting 298 and 127 votes respectively.

Mr Cockshaw, who lost out to sitting Conservative councillor Nicholas Mawer by 156 votes, said: "It is a step along the way as far as we are concerned. This is not the end of our campaign."

But Mr Wood said he did not see the Independent candidates as a threat.

He said: "I don't think single-issue candidates really do well in local government elections."

"I was more surprised by how many votes UKIP got and I think the Conservatives need to up their game."

His comment came after residents elected two new Labour candidates, reducing the Conservative dominance on the district council. The Tories now have 41 out of the 50 seats.

On the loss of two seats, Mr Wood said: "Naturally I'm disappointed to lose two valued colleagues but, compared to the national picture, I think the Conservatives have done very well."

In Banbury, Labour's Surinder Dhesi won the Banbury Neithrop seat and fellow Labour candidate Sean Woodcock took the Banbury Ruscote seat.

Ms Dhesi, who was a district councillor in Banbury Neithrop for 16 years before she lost her seat in 2008, was jubilant to regain the ward by a majority of 276. She said: "I'm feeling great. I will be focusing on Dial A Ride and working hard to see if I can get that reinstated."

She also plans to campaign for free parking in the town. Labour's Banbury Constituency chairman Terry Davis said: "I am very pleased with the result."

"We targeted two wards in Banbury and won both of them. "On top of that we came very close in several other wards."

Overall turnout for the Cherwell election was 26.5 per cent.

Tailored Blinds Of Banbury

InBRIEFTime-waster
in court

■ AN alcoholic, who reported being robbed before later realising no such crime had taken place, has been sentenced for wasting police time. Julian Fannon admitted the charge at Oxford Crown Court. He reported that his wallet and watch were stolen on December 14 but failed to tell police when he realised he had not been the victim of a crime. The 33-year-old, of Jubilee Court, Banbury, was given a 12-month conditional discharge.

■ Cost of urging people to avoid the town centre route

Council to spend £1.5m to redirect local drivers

By Oliver Evans

ABOUT £1.5m is to be spent in a bid to get drivers to use Banbury's controversial inner relief road.

Oxfordshire County Council could use the cash to change lane markings and improve signage to try to change town centre traffic flows.

The A4260 relief road was built in the 1990s and turns off Oxford Road, near Horton General Hospital, into Upper Windsor Street, and Hennef Way.

But many drivers have not used the road, as it hits three sets of traffic lights. Instead, they go through the town, via South Bar Street and Horsefair.

Banbury Easington county councillor Kieron Mallon said: "We are trying to encourage drivers to avoid Banbury town centre."

No decisions have been made on how the cash – from a pot of developer contributions – will be spent, he said.

But extra signage and changing the road layouts at junctions are among options being considered, the Conservative added. The council is also considering a roundabout at the relief road's crossroads at Bridge Street.

Yet Mr Mallon said the best relief road was a long-mooted plan for a "south east relief road" around the east of town, from Hennef Way to Bloxham Road.

This is backed in the council's long-term transport strategy, which says the A4260 should until then be the "primary north-south route".

Tom Blinkhorn, who runs TV and hi-fi shop Blinkhorns in South Bar Street, questioned whether drivers could be discouraged from the town centre.

He said: "That is what the inner relief road is there for, but that is what it has never achieved. It won't work and people will come through town again."

Mr Blinkhorn, who has run the shop for 25 years, said he was put off by the lights, adding: "I just avoid it. It is not in the right place."

Roger McLaren, who runs The Baytree cafe in White Lion Walk, said: "Most people will still use the route they know. It might stop a bit of congestion at Horsefair."

Banbury Civic Society chairman Rob Kinchin-Smith said: "Having an increasingly busy inner relief road can't be good for the town."

"No town will benefit from having a dual carriage-way through the middle of them." He backed calls for the south east relief road instead.

A council spokesman said: "Oxfordshire County Council is currently investigating ways of improving traffic flows along the north-south axis through Banbury."

He said planning was in the "early stages" and no "firm proposals" had been drawn up or funding confirmed.

Mourners say farewell to tragic London Marathon runner, Claire

MORE than 700 people attended the funeral of tragic marathon runner Claire Squires on Wednesday of last week.

They wore touches of red – the 30-year-old's favourite colour – to the service in her village of North Kilworth, Leicestershire.

The hairdresser was running in the London Marathon to raise money for the Banbury and District Samaritans – where her mother, Priscilla, is a volunteer – when she collapsed on the final stretch.

Donations from people around the world who read about the tragedy flooded in and have topped £1m since the April 22 run. Miss Squires was buried in the same grave as her brother, Grant, who died in 2001 aged 25.

Youngest sister Penny told mourners: "She has become the nation's sweetheart."

■ Town traders: Out-of-town shopping parks will offer it. We want the same

Plea for free parking

By Oliver Evans

BANBURY traders have renewed their calls for free parking after a controversial out-of-town retail development was approved.

More than 300 shoppers' signatures have been collected to urge Cherwell District Council to waive the fees for the first three hours in its 22 car parks.

They fear approved plans for a retail park on the site of the Prodrive HQ by Junction 11 of the M40, which includes free parking, will suck trade from the town.

The council has pledged to look into free schemes at places like Market Place and Spiceball – but warned of a lack of cash.

Barry Whitehouse, owner of craft shop The Artery in Church Lane, said: "The Prodrive scheme will bring more people to the area.

"However, if they offer free parking, we need to have a level playing field."

He pointed to free parking run by neighbouring South Northamptonshire and West Oxfordshire district councils.

Chris Chandler, who runs Chandler's coffee shop, also in Church Lane, said: "All of our customers seem to think it is a good idea.

"We have had customers suddenly rush off just because their parking ticket was running out."

Some traders also fear the impact of plans for another retail park, at Kraft Foods in Southam Road, which would include a supermarket.

If approved, drivers coming from the M40's Junction 11 would pass three retail parks, all with free parking, on the way to town.

Alan Wolstencroft, who runs Fashion Fabrics in Parsons Street, said: "The general feeling is we need some free parking to try to redeem the situation."

Deputy council leader George Reynolds said the council was re-examining free parking but warned it would be hard to fund.

He said: "If we find we can afford half-a-million a year we might consider free parking."

Banbury car park takings were £1,004,590 in the 12 months from April 2011, when hourly fees went up by 10p.

Some £824,287 was collected in the previous 12 months but Mr Reynolds said this cash was vital for balancing the council's budget.

He said: "Either we put £20-a-head on the council tax or we cut services."

With the council obliged by law to provide services like waste collection, major cuts could only be in "recreational" services, he said.

Mr Reynolds said: "Do we close all the sports centres?"

He said: "The real problem with trade I suspect is the general problem that no-one has as much money as they did three years ago."

Prodrive will move to the former Hella lighting factory and make way for the Acorn Way development, which includes a Marks & Spencer and Next.

Traders have also now merged The Old Town Association and Banbury Cross Traders groups in a bid to lobby more effectively.

Chris Chandler, together with traders Angela Mitchel, Annie MacDonald, Kenny Gillet, Malcolm Douglas and Alan Wolstencroft launch a petition for free parking

By Sam McGregor

POLICE are pumping thousands of pounds into an initiative to combat a massive increase in petrol thefts.

Figures show that in Cherwell alone the number of people filling up their car and driving off without paying has shot up by 246 per cent.

In the six months between March and September 2011 there were 79 incidents, compared with 32 in the same period in 2010. In many cases stolen number plates were used to mask the thieves' getaway.

Now, thanks to a £10,896 grant from the Government's Community Action Against Crime Innovation Fund, awarded to the Cherwell Crime Partnership, police have launched "Forecourt Watch" to tackle the problem head-on.

So far, 22 garages in the district have signed to the scheme, which works on a similar basis to "Shop Watch".

Descriptions of the thieves and their cars will be passed to police and other garages via a radio system.

It means they can report an incident as it happens and warn other garages of the suspicious vehicles.

Inspector Neville Clayton said: "The continual rise in fuel prices is responsible for an increase in the number of fuel thefts.

"Between March and September last year, there was a 246 per cent rise in the number of petrol drive-offs in Cherwell."

Garages joining the initiative will offer to fit anti-theft numberplate screws as part of a MoT. The tamper-proof screws are also available free from police stations in Bicester, Banbury and Kidlington.

Insp Clayton said: "Most of the rogue number plates are stolen overnight from parked vehicles. Because they are so readily available, that's why we want to educate people to treat them as they do their private data.

"We think the free anti-theft screws will make it much harder for criminals to steal number plates."

Antelope Nissan, of Swan Close Road, Banbury, is one of the garages taking part in the initiative.

Manager Andy Huckfield said: "It will benefit us because it means we can keep in contact with other firms. If we have got a problem, or they have, we can let each other know about it quickly."

Across Oxfordshire there have been 317 number plates thefts between April 2011 and February 2012.

Co-ordinator June Lynes said the cost of petrol thefts to garages was about £22m a year, and the cost to police – because of more investigations – was also spiralling.

She said: "Police can spend valuable time eliminating innocent number-plate owners from their enquiries, and legitimate owners can often find it difficult to prove they weren't the ones committing speeding or parking offences."

Historically, the last three dry winters in a row were back in the 1890s

Standpipes threat 'unlikely'

By Andrew Ffrench

THERE is little prospect of drought-hit residents being forced to use standpipes, an Oxfordshire rainfall expert has claimed.

He said a third dry winter on the trot was "very unlikely".

Terry Marsh, who collects rainfall data at Oxfordshire's Centre for Ecology and Hydrology, spoke out after Environment Secretary Caroline Spelman said another dry winter could make it more likely for standpipes to be brought in to drought-hit areas next year.

Oxfordshire, as well as large parts of the rest of the country, is in drought after two extremely dry winters – but last month was one of the wettest on record. And last week a number of rivers in the county continued to be on flood alert.

Mr Marsh said: "The last two winters have been notably dry, but a third winter, when rainfall is below average, is very unlikely indeed. I don't think we should expect standpipes."

"Historically, there have been few examples of three dry winters in a row and you have to go back to the 1890s and the early years of the 20th century for the last cluster of dry winters."

"The recent rainfall has been useful for the farming community and groundwater levels are beginning to rise."

Mrs Spelman said: "It's far too early to tell yet whether we are going to have the wet winter we do need."

"It's most unlikely we would have standpipes this year — but if we have another dry winter that becomes more likely."

Thames Water has warned its 8.8 million customers the present hosepipe ban will remain in place, despite the deluge in April.

The UK's biggest water company said recent wet weather had not made up for a shortfall caused by below-average rainfall in 20 of the previous 25 months.

A Healthy Takeaway Choice

Finding a healthy takeaway, isn't easy. There is a great variety of foods to choose from but now you can make a better choice for your body, as well as find something delicious and mouth watering.

Royal Kebab on Broad Street in Banbury offer a variety of low fat Turkish food, using the finest fresh ingredients. Their chicken kebab is a perfect example, using lean meat and an abundance of salad. All food is cooked in front of the customer from their clean kitchen. The business is a favourite with local police and security professionals.

Mehmet and the team still offer a wide variety of other Turkish foods, including both the doner and lamb sheesh kebab. But for those who fancy something different, they also offer a buy one get one free meal deal on Italian recipe inspired pizzas. Their selection of burgers are made on the premises using fresh meat and their very own American style recipe.

If you are unable to make it to the shop on Broad Street, they offer a FREE home delivery service for orders over £8.00. The food is packed separately so you are able to put the ingredients together at home – perfect for those that like to keep it fresh!

Their delivery times vary throughout the week, with a 3pm to 1am option on Sunday through to Thursday and until 3am on a Friday or Saturday night.

Royal Kebab is a popular choice among local people, due to its range of menu, the great customer service and fresh foods. Many customers leave great feedback after their food is delivered "I come to Royal Kebab 2-3 times a week, the food is always good" and "the kebabs are healthy, filling and delicious!" are just some of the great comments received recently. The team are confident that once you have tried Royal Kebab, you will keep going back!

To visit Mehmet and the team, just call into 55 Broad Street or call them on 01295 252177. You can also order online at www.royalkebab-ox16.just.eat.co.uk

■ League table of the rich published

Sir Richard tops county wealth list

By Damian Fantato

VIRGIN boss Sir Richard Branson has once again been named as Oxfordshire's wealthiest person in The Sunday Times Rich List.

Sir Richard, who lives in North Oxfordshire, has had a good year, climbing three places over the past 12 months.

He is now worth £3.4bn, putting him in

Sir Richard Branson

16th place overall, and his wealth has grown by £325m. The list is published each year, ranking the richest men and women living in the UK.

Firoz Kassam, who owns Oxford United's home ground as well as Heythrop Park, near Chipping Norton, saw his wealth grow by £15m but dropped 25 places.

He is now worth £217m and sits in 359th place.

Meanwhile, the Duke of Marlborough, whose family owns Blenheim Palace, Woodstock, is in 718th place and valued at £105m, up £5m from last year.

He is just below Sir Frank Williams, owner of Formula 1 team Williams, which is based in Grove, who has jumped 21 places to 682 and is now worth £110m.

Harry Potter star Emma Watson, who went to Headington School, is one of the richest young people, though she has fallen four places despite being £2m better off.

The 22-year-old is now in 17th place and worth £26m.

Oxford Brookes University graduate Jonnie Shearer is a new entry at number 30 in the richest young people list – for those under 30 – after his natural energy drink, Pussy, gave him a wealth of £8m.

Britain's richest man is steel tycoon Lakshmi Mittal, who is worth £12bn. He remains in top place despite his wealth falling by £4.8m.

■ Waiting list grows as youngsters queue up to join revitalised movement

Boom time for county Scouts

Paul Thompson

By Damian Fantato

IT'S a red letter day for manufacturers of woggles. Figures show that Scouting in the county is booming, with numbers on the up for seven years running.

More than 300 new Scouts have joined the Oxfordshire movement over the past 12 months.

Paul Thompson, a district commissioner, has been involved in the Scouting movement since the age of six and is not surprised by its popularity.

He said: "My parents made me go along, but I got so much out of it because I was quite a shy boy.

"Now I have got friends all over the world that I have made through Scouting.

"What's so good about Scouting is that it takes people out of their comfort zones and it is great fun.

"We have got a waiting list in Oxfordshire of up to 100 young people and we need more adult volunteers."

There are now 7,218 Scouts in Oxfordshire. The national figure is 525,327. In January, 2001, there were only 5,980 Scouts in the county.

More of the county's teenagers are also getting involved, with a 12 per cent increase in the number of Explorer Scouts, who are aged between 14 and 18.

Fifteen-year-old Beth Bowler said: "Scouting gives people a chance to see things in a different way.

"I went to the Jamboree last year and it was a life-changing experience. I see things in a different perspective now.

"It's definitely a good thing that more people are joining."

The Scout Association has put this rise down to the "enormous range of adventures for young people" it provides, as well as the fact that it offers an environment for young people to achieve their full potential.

Worldwide, Scouting has around 28m members and the movement, which was started in 1907, operates in nearly every country on the planet.

As well as badges for lighting fires and tying knots, Scouts can be rewarded for their skills in astronomy, aviation and circus skills.

Chief Scout Bear Grylls said: "It is so great to see Scout numbers rising in Oxfordshire and a big reason for this is the number of teenagers joining the adventure.

"More and more young people are realising that Scouting offers them so much – whether it is the opportunity to go on a big international adventure or the chance to learn and hone vital life skills."

MIND, BODY & SOUL

I have finished my 6 week Empower programme at Energie in Banbury!

You will remember that in previous columns I told you all about my plan to feel more confident and hopefully more toned for the 4 weddings I have planned this year. One of the weddings includes a role as Maid of Honour for my sister and I wanted to make sure I felt better about my body image, than I did at the start of this process. And I am pleased to say I have achieved great results and most importantly I feel well on my way to increased confidence.

In the last 4 weeks, Energie have continued to provide support with tips on a positive mental state. They have also enhanced my programme, now that I was strong enough for an increase in weight. It's the one on one support that makes the difference with me, and with Empower you get an injection of support once a week.

For those that recognise the power of the mind, the session on week 4 is great. I was given the chance to talk about how exercise made me feel, how I felt about my body image and health levels, what I wanted for the future and how I was going to make sure I achieved my goals. Empower delivers small ways to change the way you think, setting yourself goals, visualising them regularly and by doing so, achieving them. In truth, it was all a little strange to me at first – but it actually made sense. So much so that I recognised my efforts had not been whole hearted for the first part of the programme and I had 3 weeks left to work harder. My focus increased and I had dropped the “child-like” tantrum mindset I had about having to work hard for something I wanted. This session was key to the way I looked at exercise and a healthier lifestyle – and what I have learned will stay with me for a long time.

Energie isn't all about the gym. For those that really want to achieve their goals, often your eating habits will need to compliment what you want to achieve. The team at Energie are there to advise on so much more than how their equipment works. So if you are serious about wanting to bulk up, or slim down, you should speak to the team.

Week 6 came round quicker than I thought it would. Before I knew it, it was time to weigh in and get measured once again. At the start of the programme I was measured around the main fat storing areas – my arms, waist, hips and thighs. I am really pleased to say I lost centre metres from both my waist and hips (where most girls are looking to make a difference!). My arms were slightly bigger, but more toned. They were never a real concern for me, but with a little more muscle definition, I am happy. I always had strong legs, so I wasn't expecting to see huge loss from my thighs. These stayed the same measurements – but are much stronger.

My weight increased slightly, which I am not too concerned about. I want to be thinner, not necessarily lighter. There was a huge difference in my flexibility measurements.

Perhaps the biggest thing I have learnt (actually, I knew this before, but now I accepted it) is the importance of a plan. With a plan and structure you are on the right path to achieving your goals. Energie help you with this plan and keep you motivated along the way. The 6 weeks went really quickly, but I feel healthier, more positive and more determined to keep going.

The team at Energie are knowledgeable, understanding and patient. The facilities are perfect for any fitness plan you create and with a varied clientele you won't feel self conscious or uncomfortable. If you want to start seeing results from your workout, or you just want to start the journey to a stronger, more confident version of yourself, call the team today on 01295 255737.

Best wishes

Dealing With Loss

In light of the recent local losses of the largely respected and beloved Roger Nicholls, and the inspirational Claire Squires, this month we would like to take a moment to reflect on sudden deaths, and what this means for those who are left behind.

A sudden death will provoke numerous emotions and fears for everyone involved. Not only do we have to cope with the initial shock and realization of what has happened, but we then have to come to terms with it and find some kind of solace in what this means for us. We know we need to go on, but how can we?

When a loved one is gone, it may feel like they have left a big hole in your chest for everyone to see. You may be surrounded by people and rarely be alone, but still desperately lonely.

Death is an event that will affect every one of us at some point in our lives, and yet not one person will know exactly how you are feeling.

At Samaritans, we will not say that we understand exactly how you feel, because we don't. We will not tire of hearing your story. We will not give you a time limit on your grief before you are expected to be 'getting on with things', because there simply isn't one.

Those who are gone will always be loved and missed, and we hope to help you remember the gratitude you have for having known them, and hope that one day your gratitude will conquer the loss.

MIND, BODY & SOUL

Prevention Is Better Than Cure

Over the years, many patients have told me that their first injuries were before they were 20 years old. Falls as varied as off beds, bikes, horses or out of trees, to car accidents, football or sport in general. When we have seen x-rays of the affected areas it can be noticed that most of the damage has been there long before the day that the patient came to the clinic. Some of these patients have had pain over the years but others didn't find it a constant problem, so left treatment until they did.

When the 24 bones that protect the spinal cord lose their normal position or motion, delicate nerves can become stretched or irritated. This is when the person feels the pain. It may take some time for this to happen and before this or you can look at yourself in a mirror at home.

By keeping the spinal joints moving, adjustments can help normalize spinal motion and sometimes reduce bone and soft tissue degeneration from the tight or locked joints.

Prevention is better than cure. Once your spine is moving better, feeling stronger and you are standing straighter, future problems can be less severe by maintaining your good posture and flexibility with a regular exercise program along with regular stretching and a manipulation program specific for you.

For more information on how back pain can be handled, see the offer this week in the accompanying advertisement for Banbury Chiropractic Clinic or call 01295 253434 to make an appointment.

STORM: La Biosthetique's Spring/Summer Hair Collection 2012

These five very different looks all pay homage to the end 70s and early 80s capturing a sense of freedom and stylish rebellion. In Beverley Bates opinion, Ekko's Director and La Biosthetique's UK Creative Director, "The Collection is Biosthetique's best yet! The shapes and structures of the haircuts are so adaptable for every client and very, very commercial. Clients are really drawn to the cuts and colours which are dramatic, stylish yet easy to maintain." Beverley should know as she is responsible for teaching this collection to La Bio salons up and down the length of the country. It is her job to ensure UK salons have the skills to reproduce these looks in their own salons, giving them the up-to-the-minute trends in creative hairdressing.

Colours that melt away!

"You are seeing the new colour melt technique in action", says Julia Williams, Ekko's Salon Manager, "This technique create shapes within the contour of the hair. We take a slice section, then by using two different tones we add colour, one at the roots and then the second colour on the ends to create a melting tone. The effects are delicious and the colour combinations endless! All of the models' hair in the pictures uses this technique. Other great tones that melt away together are: rich copper browns to light marmalade blondes, deep chocolate to chilli red or fuschia inspired tones.

Make-up that lets the sunshine in!

EKKO are also pleased to introduce the new Belavance Spring/Summer Make-up colours, inspired by the 1970s flower children. With their current colours, the La Bio make-up artists have captured the emotional feeling of this age and transformed it into on-trend and up-to-date using light-infused shades. There is a gentle poetry and whimsical feel, aromatic longing for the "Age of Aquarius". Danni Otley, Ekko's Beauty Manager loves the latest trend colour pallet: "Smokeyeyes, reminiscent of the 70s are a make-up style that is forever popular, but these subtle shades, like the pearly iridescent slate Magic Shadow, give a new twist, plus the lipsticks are really creamy and sensual."

Come and let Ekko demonstrate how the new Spring/Summer Hair & Make-up Trend Collection can work for you. Book a hair appointment to try the new cuts and colours, visit the Top Up Bar to experiment with the make-up or sign-up for a full make-up lesson and let the sun shine in! For more information call Ekko on 01295 268883, see Facebook @ ekkouk, Twitter @ekkosalon or visit: www.ekkosalons.com.

InBRIEFSport awards on offer

■ Nominations are being sought for the Cherwell Sports Awards by Monday, May 21.

Clubs, coaches, players and teams will be honoured at the July 7 event at Spiceball Leisure Centre, Banbury. For information visit cherwell.gov.uk/sportsawards or email rebecca.dyson@cherwell-dc.gov.uk or call 01295 221722.

Debate starts on sixth form

■ Formal public consultation has begun on adding a sixth form to The Warriner School, Bloxham. The school wants to work with Oxford & Cherwell Valley College to offer places for students aged 16 to 19.

This would see a sixth form of 30 youngsters in September next year and 195 by 2016. Supporters said it would improve pupil choice and cut journeys but opponents, including Banbury School, warned it would "fragment" education in the area.

■ 'Now, being able to take a trip around the base, is quite bizarre'

Anti-nuclear protesters return – after 30 years

By Sam McGregor

EMOTIONS ran high as hundreds of protesters staged blockades, marches and set up a permanent peace camp in Oxfordshire to oppose the real possibility of nuclear war. That was 1982, during the Cold War.

On Monday, some of the original campaigners returned to the former US Air Force Base at Upper Heyford, which is now about to be redeveloped for housing.

Nigel Anstee-Algar, 64, lived on the camp between 1983 and 1985 and was arrested, bound over to keep the peace and fined after gripping the link fence during a protest.

He said: "The summers were lovely, idyllic and warm, but winters were miserable, cold and damp.

"I believe we did make a difference." Exactly three decades ago, the Campaign for Nuclear Disarmament, set up its camp in Portway bridgeway, just metres away from where thundering F1-11 jets took off.

The protesters were banned from local pubs, had their camp removed by police and took part in marches from Oxford city to the base.

The biggest demonstration was a blockade around the base just before the General Election in 1983, which involved around 4,000 people and led to 752 arrests.

But this week the former activists were allowed behind the security fences of the former base, and into the Barley Mow Pub, in Somerton Road, Upper Heyford – where they were previously banned.

Adrian Sinclair, 50, had just finished his studies in Oxford when he joined the protesters, and helped organise the blockade, travelling around the country to recruit people.

Reunited, outside the wire of RAF Upper Heyford

OX51803

The father of two, who now works for a community radio station in Leeds, said: "It was a romantic notion at times, being around a campfire, but just the other side of the fence there were the F1-11s.

"A lot of the people, both locally and over the other side of the fence, disagreed violently with what we were doing. So, it was quite emotional coming back.

"Although we cut a few fences, I had never really been in the place. Now, being able to have a trip round the base, is quite bizarre."

Mark Brett, 55, spent about four years living at the camp on and off.

He said: "There was quite a lot of activity, arrests and prison sentences. I remember doing a week in Oxford prison.

"They wanted to bind us to keep the peace, but we were being honest and said at the time that keeping the peace in the wider sense was what we were arrested for.

"It was worth it, because it raised awareness."

Brin Price, 52, also picked up a criminal record for his actions at the camp, although he never served time.

He said: "We were committed to non-violent, direct action. We thought we could change the world.

"I think change did happen, not perhaps the radical change we wanted, but there has been a certain amount of nuclear disarmament due to the pressure of the mass movement."

The base was closed on January 1, 1994. The group maintained a presence at the base into the late 1980s.

Later Living is safer and more secure with McCarthy & Stone

McCarthy & Stone can offer older homebuyers a way of life that means there is less to worry about.

We build our developments with an abundance of security features to minimise the risk of crime.

Apartments are fitted with a smoke and intruder alarm. There's also a security TV camera at the main entrance. When someone calls, residents can see who's there before they let them in simply by switching channels on their TV set.

Having other like minded people living in the same building adds to the feeling of safety and social activities in the shared lounge creates a sense of community.

To discover more simply complete and return the coupon below, call, or visit our website www.mccarthyandstone.co.uk

Another reassuring presence is the House Manager, who looks after the general running of the development and acts as a good neighbour to the residents.

In case of personal emergency, residents know they can rely on the 24-hour emergency call system, which is installed throughout the development.

Simon says: 'it's personal'

Unlike most motor-mouth comedians, Simon Amstell is notoriously reluctant to be interviewed.

Which is why he tends to react to questions as a snail does to salt.

Just like his BBC2 sitcom Grandma's House, his latest stand-up tour is intensely personal. It evolved from a long series of small pre-tour gigs, in which Simon, 32, has been trying out new material.

"What tends to happen is I go on stage with a few ideas, some scraps of paper, and just see what comes out of me.

"It's a bit scary I suppose and often not that much fun for the audience. But what is great doing it this way is there is this almost unconscious discovery of new things about yourself as a direct result of the audience."

Simon, who was for three years the presenter of the BBC2 pop comedy show Never Mind the Buzzcocks, for which he won a BAFTA and a Royal Television Society Award for Best Comedy Entertainment Personality continues: "I really do love doing stand-up. It's the most amazing feeling when it's going well: you're free, you're flying. This 'thing' is happening beyond your control. Something is powering you, something that isn't you."

But taking on a gruelling 29-date tour, he says "can be quite emotionally draining. And what tends to happen, after about twenty dates, is that I have to remind myself just before I go on stage 'Remember, you like this. This is exactly where you want to be. This is definitely fun'."

Simon may be currently better known for his TV work, but he started on the stand-up circuit when he was only 14. At 17, he was the youngest ever finalist in the BBC New Comedy Award. And he's also wowed the big guns.

The Guardian, for instance, declared that Simon's show was, "The real deal. Where philosophy collides with anxiety, where Heidegger meets Woody Allen".

For its part, The Scotsman raved that he was, "One of the most elegant, articulate, sensitive and endearing proponents of 'Soul Comedy' that there is."

So what can we expect from the tour, which will also feature special guest Daniel Simonsen?

As always, the show will be an attempt by the intensely vulnerable and honest Simon to heal himself in public with Numb.

"The theme seemed to be disconnection and detachment and the inability to feel things fully. It's about not being able to feel things in the moment and being incapable of expressing yourself emotionally and the fact that that leads to disconnectedness and depression. And it's very funny!" he adds with an embarrassed hoot of laughter.

For all Simon's feelings of alienation, however, audiences really relate to his material.

Does he feel brave exposing his feelings to this degree?

"Not really," he replies. "I think it's actually also quite healing eventually. When you reveal something personal and perhaps shameful, people acknowledge that it's part of the human condition and they don't feel so alone.

"Occasionally, I have tried to do stuff about other things," Simon insists, "but it doesn't really work for me. If it's not coming from 'here's how I felt in this particular moment', then it doesn't resonate.

"When I say I feel a certain way, no one can argue with that. It's an authentic response to the world." Simon would be the first to admit that he can dwell on the dark side, but he maintains that helps his comedy.

"Without suffering, there would be no need for comedy. Misery on its own doesn't work. But misery combined with the perception that that misery is ridiculous is very funny, right?"

■ Simon Amstell's 2012 tour Numb comes to Northampton's Royal & Derngate on May 22 and Oxford's New Theatre on May 27. Visit www.simonamstell.co.uk/twittter

CHEER UP! Simon Amstell is taking on a 29-date stand-up tour

Acoustic launch to the year

■ WE'VE had rain storms, thunder and hail. It can only mean one thing – spring is finally here!

And what better way to celebrate than relaxing to some of the finest acoustic music around. Tomorrow, The Mill Arts Centre hosts Acoustic Spring, which will see musician Stevie Matt turning up with a hand-picked bunch of troubadours.

The event, which follows last season's Acoustic Winter, features Rachel Gittus, Pete the 'At (of Leatherat), and the debut performance of the Stevie Matt Band – boasting Barney Newman, Matt Watson, Benny B and Suzette, as well as frontman Steve, of course.

Expect sweet folk vocal and talented guitar work.

Tickets are £5 in advance or £7 on the door. Call the box office on 01295 279002

■ There is more great music at The Mill on Friday, when Steeleye Span's legendary fiddle player Peter Knight returns to town, with his band But Gigspanner.

Breaking away from the usual folkie fare, the show will touch

Flashback: Leatherat playing at Cropredy upon Eastern European, French, African and even Aboriginal influences.

"We would all expect Peter Knight to promise an amazing night of entertainment and this Gigspanner concert is going to go a level above, with his brilliant band of musicians," said The Mill's programme manager Deborah Clarke.

Expect a thrilling night out.

Tickets are £12, from the same place as above.

STARTING TOGETHER Country

A jaunty title that belies dark thriller

HOW I SPENT MY SUMMER

VACATION (15, 96 mins)
Action/Thriller/Comedy. Mel Gibson, Kevin Hernandez, Dolores Heredia, Daniel Gimenez Cacho, Peter Stormare. Director: Adrian Grunberg.

Punch & Judy, donkey rides, sandcastles and candy floss are in disappointingly short supply in Adrian Grunberg's grimy and darkly comic thriller.

This isn't how you spent your summer holiday, or indeed would want to: banged up in a Mexican jail, fighting for your life against the drug-riddled dregs of society.

A disconcertingly jaunty title epitomises the curious mood swings of Grunberg's film – his directorial debut.

The tone bleeds from graphic violence to black comedy via a tense game of cat and mouse in the crowded inner sanctum of the jail.

It speaks volumes that the opening image is a dog cocking its leg: the script, co-written by Grunberg, Stacy Perskie and leading man Mel Gibson, commits a similar act of desecration with our preconceptions.

When his money-grabbing anti-hero first staggers into Mexico's most notorious prison, El Pueblito, he stares aghast at the hustle and bustle of trade sanctioned by the guards.

"Is this a prison... or the world's nastiest mall?" he growls, surveying the various shops which have sprung up behind bars, offering prisoners every conceivable amenity, including narcotics.

We first glimpse the veteran thief known as Driver (Gibson) behind the wheel of his getaway car dressed as a clown, an accomplice coughing up blood in slow motion in the back seat. Nearby are two bags containing millions of dollars pilfered from short-tempered mobster Frank (Peter Stormare).

Mel Gibson, who plays Driver, in a scene from How I Spent My Summer Holidays

With the police in hot pursuit, Driver elects to crash on the Mexican side of the border, where the local cops pocket the cash and throw him into jail.

A tender bond develops between Driver, a ten-year-old urchin (Kevin Hernandez) and the boy's ballsy mother (Dolores Heredia).

It transpires the tyke has the same rare blood type as cartel boss Javi (Daniel Gimenez Cacho), who runs operations inside the prison, and is therefore a viable liver donor.

Needless to say, Driver isn't thrilled about anyone removing organs from his pint-sized sidekick.

How I Spent My Summer Vacation has its moments, including some uproarious one-liners and a breathless adrenaline-fuelled shootout.

The fractious relationship between Driver and the boy provides a hook for the energetic set pieces, briskly directed by Grunberg, who struggles to mesh the gore and macabre humour that sticks up two fingers to political correctness.

Win tickets

JUST so you feel like you really are at the movies, the Banbury Cake and Odeon Cinema Banbury have teamed up to offer you the chance to catch up on the latest action blockbusters, sci-fi epics and family favourites.

Yes, every week in the Banbury Cake we'll be offering free tickets to go and see some of the silver screen's must-see movies.

And this week, we're offering a pair of tickets to see How I Spent My Summer Vacation, or any other film, showing at the Odeon cinema in Horse Fair.

To stand a chance of winning, correctly answer the following question:

■ In which film did Mel Gibson play Fletcher Christian?

- a. Mad Max?
- b. The Bounty?
- c. Lethal Weapon?

Email your answer to jeremy.smith@nqo.com by noon, next Monday.

You must include a daytime telephone number as you will be contacted by phone. Normal Newsquest rules apply. The editor's decision is final.

Banbury driver wins his fourth race this season in Porsche Carrera Cup

Washout turned into win

BANBURY'S Michael Meadows overcame atrocious weather conditions at Thruxton to record his fourth win this season in the Porsche Carrera Cup GB Championship.

Meadows drove a superb race in his Redline Racing car as heavy rain and wind made it a challenging race four.

With the track awash, the race started behind the safety car to allow drivers to explore the conditions.

After three laps, the pace car peeled off and the race started in earnest, with Meadows being jumped by Richard Plant (Team Parker) before they reached the start line.

But Meadows bided his time and edged ahead.

The Banbury man quickly built his lead and eased back over the closing stages, with Ben Barker (Parr Motorsport) second and Rory Butcher (Celtic Speed) third.

"I didn't get a great start, but once I got ahead it was a lot easier," said Meadows.

His hopes of a double on the day were dashed as he finished fourth in race two with Daniel Lloyd (JD Pierce with Team Parker) recording a maiden success from Glynn Geddie (Redline Racing) and Butcher.

● CHIPPING Norton driver Fergus Walkinshaw failed to finish rounds

WATER, WATER EVERYWHERE: Chipping Norton's Fergus Walkinshaw battles it out in the wet eight and nine of the Michelin Ginetta GT Supercup at Thruxton. He aquaplaned off the circuit in race one and smashed into a dirt mound.

The Century Motorsport crew worked flat-out to rebuild the car, and Walkinshaw was back on track six laps into race two, but to no avail. Tom Sharp won both contests.

Sordo's hopes are on the up

DANI Sordo is driving the upgraded Mini John Cooper Works Super 2000 at the Rally Corsica, which got under way yesterday.

Banbury-based Prodrive have applied the enhancements introduced on the World Rally Car at the Rally Portugal on to the S2000 car.

All the modifications are identical except for the revised front bumper and large rear wing, which are not applicable under S2000 regulations.

The upgrades include the new induction system and electric water pump on the 1.6-litre turbo engine.

Before the vent, Sordo's car was shaken down by Prodrive technical director, David Lapworth. He was driving the car for the first time.

Lapworth said: "The car is even better than I could have hoped. Indeed, the changes almost seem to have an even greater impact on this car than the WRC."

"While the 30mm air restrictor does mean the Mini's peak power will be down on that of the unrestricted normally-aspirated two-litre cars Dani will be up against in Corsica, with the turbo, the car is far more driveable and the power is available across a much broader rev band."

You're being stubborn which, although typical of your sign, is not doing you any favours. You would be wise to slow your pace and to make apologies where they're due before you make enemies where there need be none. You need to rethink where you are going and what you want out of life. The answer is more obvious than you may first think. Call now for a full reading.

Developers plan to mark jubilee

By Gill Oliver

ANYONE over the age of 60 is being invited to a special event and the chance to view the latest retirement properties.

Specialist developer McCarthy & Stone is holding a special strawberry cream tea to mark the Queen's Diamond Jubilee at Foxhall Court, School Lane, Banbury.

Memories will be invited to share their memories as well as enjoying tea, cakes and strawberries before taking a tour of the show complex and chatting to staff.

Richard Williams, regional managing director for McCarthy & Stone, said:

"The Diamond Jubilee is an exciting and pivotal event and even more so for the generations who remember the Queen's coronation, so we thought it only apt to host a strawberry cream tea to celebrate the past 60 years.

"Living amongst like-minded individuals in a secure and safe environment means our residents can enjoy an independent and fulfilling retirement here and we hope our visitors will take the opportunity to join in our celebrations."

Each of the properties at Foxhall Court is fully wheelchair accessible and has been designed to offer a secure, more manageable home that enables continued independence in later life.

The open-plan lounge and dining room adjoins a well appointed kitchen comprising modern fitted units, a built-in oven and hob plus a fridge/freezer. There is also an electrically-operated window for ease of use.

The double bedroom includes fitted wardrobes, a telephone point and TV aerial socket, the modern bathroom benefits from a level access shower and bath, grab rails, easy grip lever taps and slip-resistant vinyl flooring.

For added security, each apartment has 24-hour emergency call points, a video entry system and double glazing throughout.

Residents can also benefit from a communal residents' lounge, maintained landscaped gardens and

McCarthy & Stone staff prepare to hold a special Diamond Jubilee strawberry cream tea party at Foxhall Court, School Lane, Banbury enjoy a hot meal 365 days of the year at the development's restaurant.

And, as well as neighbourly company, there are also staff on site 24 hours a day to keep an eye on things and to offer help whenever needed.

The event will take place on May 24 from 2pm to 4pm.

Advertising Telephone Sales Executive

The Banbury Cake is looking for a full time sales executive that can demonstrate enthusiasm, drive and a hunger for success. Our sales executives are local consultants, who can offer the best and most suitable multi media marketing solutions to the business community.

You will have:

- A proven track record in customer service and/or sales
- The ability and self motivation to cold call to reach your target
- Exceptional communication skills, both written and verbal
- The ability to change and adapt your sales approach to suit your audience
- A great personality and good sense of humour

In return we offer:

- A great working environment in the centre of Banbury
- A competitive salary plus bonus potential
- The opportunity to develop your sales skills with ongoing training and coaching
- Career progression options

Ideal applicants will have experience in a cold calling environment, but attitude and ambition outweigh experience. We are passionate about our training programme and your development.

Leaf sparks new mode of travel

By David Duffy

I imagine the sort of person who enjoys sudoku puzzles would just adore the Nissan Leaf. Sit behind the steering wheel and press the starter button and a dazzling array of blue displays glisten in front of you — most important of all is the range.

Fully charged, the world's first practical mass-produced 100 per cent electric vehicle says it can cover 110 miles. But push the air conditioning button and that drops to 90 miles. Turn up the fan and you knock off another couple of miles. Accelerate really hard and another couple of miles fall away.

Never mind the car, suddenly your brain needs to kick into gear. How far am I travelling? Can I make it to a charging station? How long will I need to charge the car to make the return trip? Do I really need the air conditioning and heating on?

A host of questions that normally never cross your consciousness when at the wheel need to be dealt with quickly, and for possibly the first time you actually start to consider the energy used in every journey.

Enough of the philosophy of electric motoring. What's the reality?

In the Leaf, it is a remarkably practical experience. The European Car of the Year 2011 is a proper five-seater with a sensible boot. But it is the driving experience that blows you away. The Leaf has instantly responsive acceleration, real motorway cruising ability and a top speed of more than 90mph.

The ride and drive is smooth and stable and more than matches that of comparable size hatchbacks, and thanks to its 48 compact, highly efficient lithium-ion batteries and powerful electric motor, it is whisper quiet.

Electric vehicle drivers do not have to pay for a tax disc, are exempt from the London congestion charge and can park free in some cities. The Leaf is superbly equipped with a standard equipment list, including airbags, anti-lock brakes, rear-view camera, satellite navigation and comprehensive IT systems. That leaves just one option — a solar panel incorporated into the roof spoiler which supports charging of the car's 12-volt battery, which is used for powering accessories.

The true cost of owning a Leaf is a complex affair and needs careful consideration, but if you are pretty well off, have somewhere the car can be charged every night, know you will never need to travel more than 100 miles in a day, and enjoy really thinking about the impact of travel on the environment, then the Leaf could be your perfect car.

If any of those do not apply, it will not.

Senna souvenirs star at Silverstone auction

THE automobilia auction at Silverstone Auctions' Spring Sale has many items boasting top-flight motorsport pedigree, including several related to the late Ayrton Senna.

Undoubtedly the star automobilia lot is the signed Senna steering wheel from his first Formula One race, the 1984 Brazilian Grand Prix, when he was driving for Oxfordshire's Toleman team. This item has not been for sale for at least 17 years and is estimated at between £12,000 to £16,000.

Nick Whale, managing director, Silverstone Auctions, said: "This is the very first F1 steering wheel Senna put his hands on in competition and is genuinely where a legend was born in motor racing terms.

"However, fans of arguably the greatest ever F1 driver who want to show their admiration may be tempted by a very special number plate, 'F 15 ENA', which could be read as F1 SENA."

Another notable highlight at the forthcoming sale on Wednesday, May 16, is a Lewis Hamilton-signed race helmet and "sponsor" race suit.

And all the motorsport memorabilia will be in good company because Silverstone Auctions has also secured two of Senna's actual ex-racing cars for the sale — the 1984 F1 Toleman TG-184-2 he raced to second place in the rain-soaked 1984 Monaco grand prix and a 1982 Ralt RT3 Formula 3 car.

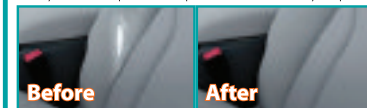

The Spring Sale takes place at Silverstone's ultra-modern 'Wing' building, when also under the hammer will be modern sports cars, competition cars and classic cars.

For further details about the Spring Sale visit the website www.silverstoneauctions.com

■ PRICES and full specs have been released for the updated Hyundai i20 supermini. The Fiesta rival will cost from £9,995 for the entry-level 1.2-litre petrol three-door Classic model, rising to £14,295 for the 1.4 CRDi diesel Style. Four trim levels will be available, including the high-efficiency Blue, which only uses the super-low-CO₂ 1.1-litre CRDi diesel. Inside the cabin, Hyundai has switched to soft-touch plastics to raise the premium feel. Classic models come with remote central locking, six airbags, air conditioning, ESP and, for the first time on the i20, Hyundai's Vehicle Stability Management stability control.

■ PORSCHE has released details of the Cayenne GTS, a sportier version of its already high-performance SUV. The Cayenne GTS sits between the Cayenne S and the Cayenne Turbo in the range, with an uprated 4.8-litre V8 engine producing 420 horsepower. The Cayenne GTS goes on sale in the UK in July, priced from £67,147.

CONDITIONS OF ACCEPTANCE OF ADVERTISEMENTS

Orders for insertion of advertisements in NEWSQUEST (OXFORDSHIRE & WILTSHIRE) LTD titles are accepted subject to the following conditions:

- By placing the order the Advertiser warrants that the advertisement is legal, decent, honest and truthful complying with the British Codes of Advertising and Sales Promotion, with any relevant codes of practice and with all requirements of current legislation and that it contains nothing that is defamatory or that constitutes an infringement of the proprietary or other rights of any third party.
- The Advertiser agrees to indemnify the Publisher in respect of all costs, damages or other charges falling upon the newspaper as the result of legal actions or threatened legal actions arising from the publication of the advertisement.
- While every endeavour will be made to meet the wishes of the Advertiser, the Publisher does not guarantee the insertion of any particular advertisement either on any specified date or dates or at all.
- All advertisements must be accompanied by the name and address of the Advertiser for record purposes and the Publisher may require evidence to establish the Advertiser's bona fides and to substantiate any claims made in the advertisement.
- (i) In the event of any error, misprint or omission in the printing of an advertisement or part of an advertisement the Publisher will at the Publisher's election either re-insert the advertisement or part of an advertisement as the case may be or make a reasonable refund or adjustment to the cost. No re-insertion, refund or adjustment will be made where the error, misprint or omission does not materially detract from the advertisement.
 (ii) In no circumstances shall the total liability of the Publisher for any error, misprint or omission exceed (a) the amount of a full refund of any price paid to the Publisher for the advertisement in connection with which liability arose or (b) the cost of a further or corrective advertisement of a type and standard reasonably comparable to that in connection with which liability arose.
 (iii) The Advertiser agrees to check the published advertisement for any errors or omissions and to notify the Publisher thereof by 9.30 the following morning, if correction and republication is required. If no notice is received by 9.30 the following morning, the Advertiser is deemed to have accepted the advertisement in its entirety and will pay the full charge.
 (iv) The Publisher shall not be liable for any loss or damage occasioned by any total or partial failure (however caused) of publication or distribution of any newspaper or edition in which any advertisement is scheduled to appear.
- THE PUBLISHER RESERVES THE RIGHT TO:
 (i) Cancel the order at any time by giving reasonable notice before the next insertion, but in that event the Advertiser shall not be liable for payment of the difference (if any) between the rates for the series specified in the order and the usual price for the series of insertions which has appeared when the order is stopped;
 (ii) Make any alteration it considers necessary or desirable in an advertisement and to require artwork or copy to be amended to meet its approval.
- Queries over classified advertisements which have been cancelled must be accompanied by the stop number given at the time of cancellation.
- The deadline for cancellation is the same deadline as the space booking, after this time no cancellation will be accepted for the following publications:
 Oxford Mail, Witney Gazette, Bicester Advertiser, Herald Series, Oxford Star, Oxford Times and Banbury Cake.
- Should the rate for advertisements be altered, the cost of remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the Publisher has the option of cancelling the unexpired portion of the order.
- Voucher copies or tearsheets will not be supplied unless otherwise agreed.
- The Advertiser's artwork, film and all other property is held at the Advertiser's risk and should be insured by him against loss or damage from whatever cause. The Publisher reserves the right to destroy without notice all artwork, film and other property which has been in his custody for six months from the date of its last appearance unless the Advertiser has given instructions to the contrary and has obtained the Publisher's written acknowledgement that the Publisher has received such instructions.
- (i) Every endeavour will be made to forward replies to box numbers to the Advertiser as soon as possible after receipt by the Publisher, but the Publisher accepts no liability in respect of any loss or damage alleged to have arisen through delay in forwarding or omitting to forward such replies (howsoever caused). The Advertiser authorises the Publisher to open any letter for examination and to destroy or return to its originator any communication which, in the opinion of the Publisher, should not be delivered to the Advertiser. Readers are advised not to enclose original references or stamped addressed envelopes with their replies.
 (ii) The Publisher reserves the right to disclose the name and address of Advertisers and/or agencies to the police, trading standards officials, or any other relevant authority and, where the Publisher in its sole discretion deems it reasonable, to other third parties.
- SETTLEMENT OF ACCOUNTS:
 (a) Regular Advertisers holding an account number - all invoices must be paid within 30 days from the date of the invoice. Failure to comply with this request may result in credit facilities being withdrawn and advertising stopped. Any discounts negotiated are subject to payment within our monthly account terms.
 (b) Other Advertisers - All advertisements to the value of £100 require pre-payment by cheque, postal order, most major credit cards, Switch or cash at any of our Branch Offices.
 (c) The existence of a query on any individual invoice will not affect the due date of payment for the balance of the account.
- (i) The copyright for all purposes in all artwork, copy and other material which the Publisher or its employees have originated, contributed to or reworked shall vest in the Publisher.
 (ii) The Publisher is hereby authorised to record, reproduce, publish, distribute and broadcast (or to permit the same) all advertisements (including but not limited to text, artwork and photographs) and to include and make them available in any information service, electronic or otherwise.
- The placing of an order by an Advertiser constitutes an assurance that all necessary authority and permission has been secured in respect of the use in the advertisement(s) of pictorial representations of (or purporting to be of) living persons, and of references to the words attributed to living persons.
- Advertisement orders issued by an advertising agency as a principal must be on the agency's official form. When copy instructions not constituting an official order are issued, they shall be clearly marked 'Copy instructions - not an order'.
- Users of the computerised artwork delivery system, via ISDN, must before transmission obtain a unique reference number from the Publisher in order that their artwork can be identified upon receipt. The Publisher will not be responsible for errors occasioned by the subsequent receipt of artwork without any such identification.
- Mail Order and One Day Sale Advertisements. These types of advertisements are accepted at the sole discretion of the Advertisement Manager or his/her deputies. All such advertisements must be pre-paid and copy submitted at least 7 working days before publication. The Publisher reserves the right to refuse to publish any such advertisement containing copy which we find not acceptable and will not be responsible for any costs incurred by the Advertiser or his Agents, either before or after such refusal.
- SEX DISCRIMINATION ACT.
 No advertisement which indicates or can reasonably be understood as indicating an intention to discriminate on the grounds of sex (e.g. by inviting invitations from only male or only females) may be accepted unless exempted from the requirements of the Sex Discrimination Act. A statement must be made at the time the advertisement is placed, saying which of the exceptions in the Act is considered to apply.
- RACE RELATIONS ACT.
 The Publisher reserves the right not to accept recruitment advertisements which request a photograph or hints of discrimination on racial grounds in support of an application.
- TRADE DESCRIPTIONS ACT
 All advertisements will be accepted only on the express condition that the Advertiser warrants that the advertisement does not in any way contravene the provisions of the Trade Descriptions Act 1968.
- Business Opportunities Advertisements are accepted at the sole discretion of the Advertisement Manager or his/her deputies and will appear in the Classified section under the appropriate heading. Readers are recommended to take professional advice before entering into any obligations.
- Dating Agencies and advertisements for companions are accepted at the sole discretion of the Advertisement Manager or his/her deputies and will appear in the Classified section under the appropriate heading. Readers are requested to consider very carefully and make the fullest enquiries before giving any personal details.
- All orders from Advertising Agencies are governed by the standard conditions agreed between the Newspaper Society and the Institute of Practitioners in Advertising. The Director's personal guarantee given to the Newspaper Society at the time of recognition is deemed to be part of these conditions of acceptance.
- All gross advertising rates (except Classified Lineage) are subject to a 0.1 per cent Advertising Standards Board of Finance surcharge, payable by Advertisers to help finance the self regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.
- If an Advertiser in receipt of series or volume discount cancels before fulfilling the terms for the discount, the Publisher reserves the right to make a surcharge up to the full published rates for the type of advertisement.
- The placing of an order for the insertion of an advertisement shall amount to an acceptance of the above conditions and any conditions stipulated on an Advertiser's order form or elsewhere shall be void insofar as they are in conflict with them.
